Kishi to Resign After Treaty Is In Force

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Nobusuke Kishi was reported to have said today he will announce his intention to resign as soon as the new U.S.-Japan security treaty comes into force.

Local newspapers in banner headlines said Kishi made his declaration to Secretary General Shiro Kawashima of his Liberal Democratic party, who called on the premier to discuss the selection of a successor.

Japan's ratification of the treaty automatically became final at midnight Sunday, and the pact will come into force after U.S. Senate approval—expected sometime this week—and exchange of the ratification documents by the U.S. and Japanese governments.

House Gets Junket Proposal

Bill Would Publicize Expense Accounts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Senate proposal to publicize the overseas expense accounts of globe-trotting Congress members goes to a not very bright future today in the House.

The House rejected a similar proposal in April. But backers of the new effort contend that recent disclosure of night club bills to the taxpayers by traveling House members might bring a different outcome.

The amendment was hooked onto the $129,719,510 annual legislative appropriation bill by a 56-23 vote. It would require publication of the detailed expense accounts once each year in the Congressional Record.

The over-all bill carries funds to pay the salaries of Congress members and their staffs, and finance many other congressional operations in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Sens. John J. Williams (R-De) and Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) sponsored the expense account amendment. It was adopted as a substitute for a rival plan which would have required only Senate members to disclose details of their overseas expense accounts.

Sens. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz), John Stennis (D-Miss) and other backers of this proposal predicted the House never would accept any Senate move to require House members to do anything. They contended the better approach was for the Senate to set an example, and hope the House would go along.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), however, rejected this reasoning. Contending that "odium from the House falls on the Senate, too," he backed the Williams proposal.

The issue is expected to wind up in a Senate-House conference committee, assigned to work out a compromise between the two branches.

Nixon Scores Nikita's Boast

Sees Continued U.S. Lead In Economy

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today that despite Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's boasts this country should stay well ahead of the Soviet Union economically through the year 2000.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the 40th annual convention of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce, Nixon said: "Mr. Khrushchev boasts that he will catch us and pass us economically in 7 or 10 years. By any projection that can be applied, there is not a possibility that the Soviet economy will overtake our own at any time in this century."

Nixon said this government to prevent lopsided growth should help out whenever the job was too big for private industry.

"We must not hesitate," said the man who expects to be the Republican candidate for president, "to resort to government action where it provides the best road to progress."

This was billed by Nixon as a major speech on this nation's economic growth. But, typically of speeches at this stage of the presidential campaign, Nixon offered few specifics.

Mostly the vice president hit out at critics of the administration who say the Soviet Union is growing at a much faster rate than is the United States—and that the government should take steps to correct this lag.

The critics, Nixon said, "argue that if we would just adopt their pet economic philosophy we too would grow like the Soviets. They invited us to join them in playing what is rapidly becoming the most fashionable political par-

Carney Honored For Best Comedy

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A trio of old movie pros — Sir Laurence Olivier, Ingrid Bergman and Robert Stack—in their first try at television walked off with the top TV Emmy awards Monday night.

Harry Belafonte became the first Negro ever to win an Emmy.

Jackie Gleason's former second banana, Art Carney, won an award for the best comedy show.

Olivier, generally rated the greatest English-speaking actor, won his Emmy for his portrayal of a character based on the artist Gauguin in "The Moon and Sixpence."

His award was accepted by Charlton Heston, this year's movie Oscar winner, who said: "I will say something that Larry would not say himself — he deserves it."

Both Olivier and Miss Bergman, a two-time Oscar winner, were in Europe. The Swedish actress won her first TV award for the chilling "Turn of the Screw."

Stack, who plays the gang-busting Elliott Ness in "The Untouchables," would have won even if he had lost.

His boss, Desi Arnaz, had a $12,000 Mercedes Benz sports roadster waiting for him in the parking lot.

"I was going to give it to you win or lose," Arnaz told the flabbergasted Stack.

Stack won his Emmy as the best actor in a series. The award for the best actress in a series went to Jane Wyatt, the wife and mother of the Anderson family in "Father Knows Best."

Belafonte won for the best performance in a variety or musical program. He accepted his Emmy from Fred Astaire, who also was nominated for the award.

Carney, competing with such top bananas as Danny Thomas, Jack Benny and Red Skelton, won his award for the Art Carney Special Show—VIP.

The show, staged and telecast from both Hollywood and New York, gave other Emmys to: Playhouse 90 for the best drama show.

CBS' "Fabulous Fifties," best variety program.

The Huntley-Brinkley Report, best news program.

CBS' "20th Century," best public affairs program.

Writer Rod Serling for his series "Twilight Zone," best written drama.

Jack Benny's four writers, best comedy writing.

"Huckleberry Hound" — a cartoon series, the first syndicated show ever to win an Emmy, won for the most outstanding children's program.

House Speeds School Bill

Means to Pass One Before Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee took a big step today in the direction of getting President Eisenhower a school construction bill he might sign.

It agreed to hear a House Education Committee request that conferees representing the Senate and the House be allowed to try to work out a compromise measure. Without Rules Committee clearance, conflicting bills passed by the two branches could not be reconciled before Congress adjourns.

The committee's decision apparently meant that leaders of both political parties have determined that Congress should not adjourn without passing some kind of a school bill.

Informal agreement already has been reached on major terms of a possible compromise, sponsors of the House bill have reported.

But until the Rules Committee acts, no formal compromise can be drafted and referred to the two houses.

Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va) has set no date for the Rules Committee hearing but has advised Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-NC) of the Education Committee that Barden may have a hearing at his convenience.

The school bills have been stymied on the desk of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) since June 9. Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga) objected then when unanimous consent was asked to agree to a Senate request for a conference.

The House bill contains an anti-segregation provisions which the Senate refused to accept. But the Senate measure is more costly and would permit use of some federal funds to bolster teachers' salaries, a provision rejected by the House.

The House bill would provide $1,300,000,000 to be spent over a four-year period exclusively for

Corporation Income, Excise Levies Extended

World Situation, New Commitments Motivate Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has ended its annual tax fight by voting to increase revenues rather than cut them as it did a year ago.

The tax bill, passed 84-0 Monday night, not only extended present rates on corporation income and excise taxes yielding 41 billion dollars, but added on an estimated 650 million of additional revenues.

Ike Had Asked Extension President Eisenhower had asked extension of present taxes for another year.

A worsening international situation combined with recent Senate votes to increase money for defense, health research, education and federal pay led the Senate to swell the Treasury's income in the bill.

The 650 million was added through adoption of three of a series of what their sponsors called loophole-closing amendments advocated by Democrats seeking to avoid a tag of fiscal irresponsibility for their party.

The fate of these in conference with the House is dubious, since that branch had given advance notice it was not inclined to accept any tax amendments. The House originates revenue legislation under the Constitution.

Held 14-Hour Session In disposing of the bill in a 14-hour session, the Senate passed one of the major items it had to handle before final adjournment.

The bill extends for another year the corporation income tax and excises on liquor, wine, beer, cigarettes, autos, and auto parts and accessories.

These all are Korean War rates. They have been extended each year since 1954.

The bill also continues for another year 10 per cent levies on local telephone service, telegrams and passenger fares made effective during World War II.

The Senate Finance Committee had recommended these be allowed to die June 30, at a cost of 752 million a year.

Last year the Senate voted to repeal both the telephone and travel levies. In the conference with the House the effective date was moved up to July 1, 1960.

These were the loophole amendments adopted by the Senate:

By Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn), to repeal the 4 per cent tax credit on stock dividend income, bringing in 350 million a year.

To Outlaw Entertainment Items By Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa), to outlaw many entertainment items now eligible as business deductions, bringing in 260 million annually.

By Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn), to provide that the percentage depletion allowance may apply only to the raw mineral value and not the finished product. This would cut off a present 50-million Treasury loss. The potential cost of this loophole has been estimated at 600 million annually if the Supreme Court upholds lower court decisions and more businesses take advantage of the rulings.

Defeated were amendments to boost revenue by putting in an income tax withholding system on dividends and interest, to cut the oil and gas depletion allowance, and to prevent the use of capital gains tax treatment for depreciable property.

POLICE PROBE MISHAP A car operated by Jean T. Wilson, 36, of 1770 N. Ellsworth Ave., and a truck driven by William C. Maruca, were involved in a mishap here at 9:22 a.m. today. Police said Maruca was driving east on Cleveland St. when the Wilson car backed out of a driveway into the side of his truck.

Harm From Collapse of Japan Visit Outweighs Ike's Gains

HONOLULU (AP) — President Eisenhower's swift Far East tour added up to another personal triumph but something less than a howling success on the tension-ridden international front.

A total of about three million spectators applauded, yelled and even squealed with delight whenever he drove by in Korea, the Philippines, Formosa and Okinawa.

But Eisenhower realized as well as anyone that the cheers of the crowds will not solve some of the critical foreign policy problems in the area.

There are solid signs his brief Hawaiian rest is only an interlude for a fresh new look at some of the harsh problems that turned up during his travels.

Eisenhower, weary from his 16,000-mile tour, has yet to sum up his personal reaction to his journey — the first that ended in a swirl of controversy.

But, in balancing out the pluses and minuses, it appears that the sudden, embarrassing collapse of his visit to Japan outweighs the gains evident thus far.

Diplomatic officials fear this single development, with its potentially explosive aftermath, in time could even dull the prestige Eisenhower added to the American name in Korea, the Philippines and Formosa.

Japan with its highly industrialized society long has been the kingpin around which American foreign policy revolves in the Far East, just as Germany served as the focal point for European policy.

If Western-style democracy wavers in Japan, then Eisenhower's need to cancel his Tokyo visit for fear of left-wing student riots, will be remembered as the unhappy high point of his Far East travel.

For the time being, Eisenhower has succeeded in chalking up these successes:

Korea — Eisenhower appears to have done some good in prodding Koreans rejoicing in the overthrow of ex-President Syngman Rhee's regime toward genuine democracy. He reassured them the United States would stand firmly in helping beat back any new attack by Red China or Communist North Korea.

Formosa — Eisenhower eased worries about Red China by pledging to join with the Nationalists in defending embattled Quemoy if an attack on this island appears aimed at invasion of Formosa.

Eisenhower also made some headway in urging Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to push ahead with economic reforms.

The Philippines — His appearance succeeded in convincing many the United States does not take pro-American Filipinos for granted. Eisenhower's Manila reception also may have blunted start of a potentially difficult Philippines-first movement. It also might have aroused greater expectations for American economic as well as military aid.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Individual Must Fight Cancer Perils

I want to speak now of what you can do to prevent cancer from on-the-job exposure to cancer-producing substances (carcinogens) of one sort or another.

Dr. H. T. Hyman work alone or in small groups must necessarily act as their own guardians.

Included in this latter group are farmers, fishermen, crews of small vessels, day laborers, nurses, X-ray technicians, hospital personnel, medical students, internes, physicians, dentists and scientists or laboratory workers exposed to radiation.

INCLUDED in the list of common carcinogens that threaten workers, often after a lapse of many years and even decades, are prolonged or excessive exposures to sunlight, wind, heat, friction, crude mineral or paraffin oils, shale oil, tar, soot, smog, asphalt coal tar derivatives (anthracenes) coal dust, asbestos or silicon dust, aniline dyes, benzol, benzol derivatives and radioactivity.

As a result of these exposures, some (but not all) may develop cancers of the skin, hands, bronchi, bone marrow, bone, bladder, and other organs.

Fortunately for all concerned, the worker in many industries is protected by directives issued through employers, union officials and governmental agents, usually operating in the closest harmony.

LET ME GIVE some examples of how these groups, often with conflicting viewpoints in other fields of endeavor, join forces in the battle against malignancy.

When a subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey learned that one of its products contained a substance structurally related to a known carcinogen, its directors informed workers exposed to the material.

They explained how to avoid contacts, put special marking on pipes and units that contained equipment for workers who had to work on these pipes and units or with the material, instructed their workers to scrub thoroughly after unavoidable contacts and installed lockers and showers so that the men might bathe and change their clothes before returning home.

WHEN THE ATTENTION of governmental agencies was drawn to the increased frequency of cancer in workers employed in a refinery that processed a petroleum wax, a team of investigators was assured to make an investigation. Observing the work habits of the men, members of the team noted that what was called "slack wax" saturated the burlap bags that the workers tied around their waists to protect their trousers when they learned across a side rail to clean the plates of the press.

With this observation, the problems of cancer-production and cancer-prevention were effectively solved.

PERHAPS THESE few illustrations and those provided by an early column will serve to illustrate how very much can be done by individuals, governmental and private agencies and the leaders of industry and labor in the fight against cancer.

In each instance, you will note that the key person is not the fundraiser, the public relations counsel or even the whitecoated scientist. It's the man whose teeth you brush each morning.

For a copy of Dr. Hyman's leaflet "What About Cancer?" send 10 cents to Dr. Hyman, care of The Salem News, Box 489, Dept. B, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Buckeye Girls' State Elect Officers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This is the big day at Buckeye Girls' State.

Some hearts might be broken, some tears might be shed—but after all, that's politics. And that's what the girls are here to learn.

For today is election day. And of a myriad number of candidate running for state and county offices, most will fall by the wayside in this morning's primary election. Half the field that's left will lose in the afternoon's general election.

There are 35 Federalists and 23 Nationalists running for their party's nominations for the six top state offices alone. Of these, the primaries will narrow the field to 12—six from each party—for the general election.

Of the 12, six will be elected to fill posts of governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, state auditor, state treasurer and secretary of state.

Elections also will be held for officials of two mythical counties, judges, state senators and representatives and members of the state board of education.

Six Federalists and four Nationalists are vying for their party's nomination for governor.

The Federalist candidates are Carol Andrews of Baltic, Ruby Chatman of Cleveland, Connie Cole of Findlay, Ann Goldthwaite of Columbus, Susan Hutchins of Piqua and Sue Ann Minister of Fairport Harbor.

The Nationalist candidates are Patricia Byers of Cleveland, Linda Essex of Toledo, Ann Hale of Wilmington and Jane Fawcett of Columbus, whose father is Ohio State University president Novice G. Fawcett.

Hilda Chismell, mayor of Silver Lake, Ohio, Monday night administered oaths of office to mayors of the 18 mythical cities at Girls' State.

The week-long school in self-government, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, is being held in the Capital University campus. Nearly 1,000 girls—all high school students who have just completed or are completing their junior year—are attending this 14th annual event.

They're Too Dependent On People for Food

U.S. Park Bears Facing Extinction

BEAR BEGGARS — A mother bear and her cub stop a car for a handout in a national park. Dependence on humans for food is one reason why the bear population is dwindling in national parks in the West.

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. — Our western parks would never be the same without those lovable black bears, but their days may be numbered.

Yosemite, for example, has only half the number of bears it had 10 years ago. Nothing done so far to save the bears has been successful.

Buck Evans, the "bear ranger" at Yosemite, places part of the blame on humans—especially women—whose handouts to cuddly cubs upset the animals' instinctive foraging skills and self-dependence.

"Women who would walk around the block to avoid a vicious dog will step right up to a wild bear with 'Don't Feed the Bear' signs all around them," says Evans.

"They teach the kids, then both of them teach the cubs not to be fearful of people."

"Thus the yearling bears are man-broken," says Evans, and the problems begin. "A bear will roam as much as 20 to 25 miles a day when food is scarce. That often takes him outside park boundaries. In someone's yard or on a back porch he's a sitting duck and may end up as a bear-skin rug."

"That final chapter was fore-ordained when the women and the kids fed him as a cub."

Trapping bears at garbage cans and hauling them to the high country only moves them out to make way for others.

Feeding them in a central station was the biggest failure. "We tried that in 1939 and had our record number of first aid cases from clawing—99," says Yosemite biologist Del Armstrong.

Yosemite isn't giving up on its bears, however. "Our actual knowledge of bear habits is woefully lacking," says Armstrong.

Put to Sleep
"The first step is to put the bears to sleep long enough with tranquilizers to tag them and get them into the high country. We expect that to be done this season."

"Then we intend to make a long-range study and from it formulate a program to substitute for the unproductive procedures tried thus far."

"Maybe we can save the bears—I hope to have good news next year."

"I'm pulling for you," smiles Evans. "But if we don't come up with something better, you will have to agree the only way to save the bears is to shoot the people."

Will Kishi Be Able to Survive?

Now that Premier Kishi has clung to office long enough for Japan's automatic ratification of the new security treaty with the United States, Americans will be watching with interest to see whether he survives.

It seems certain that new general elections will be called soon in Japan. Whether Kishi is returned as premier or not, American officials feel that the conservatives will be victorious again, as they have had a lopsided majority in the Diet in recent years.

THE FIRST repair job the Japanese must face next is their police setup. As it is now, any government would have inadequate police powers. Kishi could not cope effectively with the rioting minority of Communist-inspired students which created a situation resembling anarchy in Tokyo last week. Any other government probably would have been similarly handicapped.

The great danger, as commentator Raymond Moley pointed out the other day, will be a demand for tough police powers so loud that the people might permit the old militarists to return to power.

That's always the trouble with any forceful attempt to remedy an ailment. U.S. occupation officials tried so zealously after World War II to make the Japanese people sick of war that they went too far in making police powers impotent. Japan—and the United States along with it—suffered the consequences when the ruthless Communists seized advantage and ran wild. They never could have done so, with so small a minority of Japanese support, if Kishi had been able to protect his government.

What Japan needs is a compromise between the evil of too much power for the militarists and the peril of ineffective police control.

NEXT STEP on the security treaty will be ratification by the U.S. Senate. The leadership there properly waited until after Japanese action had been completed, but Washington's end of the agreement is expected to be wrapped up soon—possibly today.

Thus the Communists will have failed to achieve their real goal, which was to have prevented the United States from maintaining bases in Japan, even though they have dealt the West a severe propaganda blow by running wild against what should have been an orderly democratic government.

Keep the Horse Before the Cart

United Steelworkers' President David McDonald seems to have his reasoning reversed when he says that if Congress does not grant a four-day week with five-day pay he will have no alternative but to take the issue to the bargaining table.

It may well be that the four-day week would be a boon to the steel industry, from the standpoint of management as well as workers. But before it is economically feasible for a man to cut his productive activity by a full day and still be worth the same pay as before, there has to be a compensating factor on the production side.

Automation is supposed to accomplish just that—it permits greater production with fewer man-hours. But it is ridiculous to contend that the theory and the practice will coincide just because Congress passes a law. Congress continually passes laws which do not represent the true state of affairs, and the result consequently is simply more problems.

The Value of Government Studies

Although Gov. DiSalle sometimes appears to concentrate more on studies than action in his efforts to improve Ohio's mental health program, it is hard to see how he could accomplish anything otherwise.

"So much of government is based on the 'it's been done this way for years' attitude that often no real progress can be achieved without stopping to take stock of where we are and where we want to go.

Consider the institution farm system, for instance. The governor now wants a study made to determine just what the state accomplishes with it. There are two reasons for the request.

First, the over-all mastery study of the mental hospitals conducted last year by Jay Collins of Euclid came up with the conclusion that it is time to decide the destiny of the farm system.

Second, the governor found that New York conducted a similar study and found that the food produced on state farms at a cost of $1,800,000 could be bought for $1,100,000.

In addition, Gov. DiSalle gained the distinct impression during last year's tours of the mental institutions that the farms often serve only as a place to put patients and keep them working, neither to their benefit nor the institutions'. Indeed, as he pointed out, the farms usually represent increased work for the already overburdened administrative staffs.

Despite these apparent drawbacks, however, it would be foolish to jump headlong into a plan to get rid of the farms without assessing what the benefits, if any, would be of doing so. The New York findings would not necessarily apply in Ohio. The governor found, for instance, that the patients in at least one institution appeared to have better food because it was provided by the farm instead of bought elsewhere and shipped in.

Any abandonment or revision of the farm system, to be most effective, would have to be coordinated with the many other changes contemplated in the whole mental health program.

There is no other way to get the answers needed to make an intelligent decision than to make a thorough study beforehand.

Once Over

Census department will try to find 200,000 people missing in the Greater New York census. Agents taking the job won't have it easy and we are happy to help with following list of places to look:

1. In phone booths in Grand Central and Penn Station. Thousands of people get into these in the morning and camp for the day, transacting biz by phone. Some stay there for weeks.

2. Among pigeon and squirrel feeders in public parks. There are times when it seems there must be more feeders than birds and squirrels.

3. Under the auto. Service station costs being what they are, thousands of citizens may be under the old bus trying to fix it themselves.

4. Around excavations for new construction jobs. Maybe the entire 200,000 can be found this way.

5. Waiting for traffic lights in midtown.

6. Caught between East and Hudson Rivers in crosstown taxis. Our guess is that 5,000 people can be found there in any hour of day.

7. In brokerage offices looking for tips or complaining of lost ones.

8. In office conferences. We think U.S. estimate of 200,000 unaccounted for in census is too low. There must be 300,000 in all-day business conferences. Wives are at home, so occupied on the phone with gossip chatter that they don't answer census takers' ring or knock.

9. Supermarkets. Women spend more time in these than at home and census checkers should know it.

10. Women's cocktail and bridge parties. Who's gonna bother with a census taker when in a hurry to get over to Mabel's place?

11. Women listening to "Young Dr. Malone" and other soap operas, and who will never forsake one to answer doorbell. (Missus tells us that she thinks tens of thousands of housewives ignore even a heavy knock on door because they are tied up trying to see what's going to happen to Emory in that arsenic poisoning trial. Every time the murder trial gets up to a climax, it is followed on the next few programs with scenes between people having troubles in no way related to the real story.)

P.S.: And census takers might check in the cellars for people trying to locate the leak.

INSURANCE COMPANIES spend millions for goodwill, emphasizing on TV the fast, polite settlement, yet some seem to go all out for a bad publicity. Jersey court case reveals that one company refused an $18,000 death claim, a relatively small one, because premium came a day late!

Dr. Barbara Moore, hiking coast to coast, was hit by auto but not badly hurt. In the shape this gal is in, the car must have suffered more.

Economy Measures In the Soup Kitchen

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Those very same direct labor action cadres and student squads which fought the import of three day's worth of President Eisenhower's U.S. good-will are living higher than they ever did on the profits of $1,100,000,000 worth of exports annually to the United States.

Victor Riesel

They have cast stores at us though we have forgiven them the grim fact that one of their largest corporations, making enormous profits out of sales to the United States, once produced the electronic wiring system for the Japanese Zero plane of ill-fame.

That firm is the Tokyo Shibaura Electric Co., Ltd. Its subsidiary, Toshiba, spouts tens of thousands of radio transistors now flooding the United States.

It is one of the biggest of the Nipponese firms which poured over $45,000,000 worth of radios into the United States last year.

THIS COMPETITION has forced some American plants to close. Other United States firms have had to slash employment. Yet we have carried this burden of the Far East.

Those who have gained here are members of the Sohyo Metal and Electrical Workers Fabricating Union.

I have this from members of a Japanese labor delegation now visiting the United States. They were in Washington this past weekend where they were winned and dined.

They revealed that Japanese women earn eight cents an hour and skilled tool and dye makers make 21 cents hourly. Low as it is, this wage level still is far higher than it has ever been.

As for the students, thousands of those who qualify go right into chemical and electrical research. What they research goes back into the products dumped into the United States.

Furthermore, some of those students were helped by millions of dollars and by American experts dispatched to Japan under our technical aid program.

Having won their first skirmish, the worker and student cadres—created by Soviet organizers in the image of Lenin's early action squads—now face a tougher struggle.

This is an economic war which apparently is being unleashed throughout the United States.

THE SPECTRE which will haunt the Nipponese is the boycott sentiment now sweeping across our land.

All Japanese goods will feel the impact. Not only the radios of Tokyo Shibaura and the washing machines of Hitachi, Ltd., and the small transistor TV sets of Sony Corp. but also autos, steel products, shoes, tiles, synthetic textiles, batteries, caps, plastics, toys, knitgoods, dinnerware, women's slacks—everything from cameras to ketchies will soon be affected by the boycott of the angered.

In Boston, for example, the Atkinson Shoe Corp. cabled its agent in Tokyo to tell its suppliers that it would sever all business ties with Japan if President Eisenhower were injured.

This firm bought several million pairs of shoes annually. Now that street riots forced the President to skip Japan, this company is still considering the boycott.

One of the world's biggest purchasers of Japanese soft goods, Metasco, Inc., instructed its Tokyo office to protest vehemently against the anti-United States demonstrations.

METASCO, buyer of scores of millions of dollars worth every year, warned of an American boycott which already was starting in the area of Richmond, Va.

Behind such a boycott will be thousands of indignant U.S. merchants who are being undersold—and the influential soft goods workers' unions.

In Boston the other day, for example, the leaders of Alex Rose's Hat Workers met for a week and determined to fight against what they termed the "certain death of America's apparel industry" if something isn't done by the government and the public.

After the siege of Jim Hagerty, a sharp letter went from Mika Masaoka in Washington to businessmen in Osaka.

Masaoka is the lobbyist for big Japanese interests. He warned the cotton, textile and apparel associations in Osaka that the violence will "inevitably" affect trade relations between the United States and Japan.

He is right. If the Japanese workers cannot keep their most powerful labor federation out of pro-Communist hands, it is time we took our trade out of their plants. We have been feeding them.

It may be to bite the hand that stones us.

SIDE GLANCES

The Summit Lesson

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The Best Way to Face A Dictatorship

Memories are short, so it is important to go back a couple of years and retrace the steps by which the American people were misled into the belief that summit conferences would solve their troubles with the Communist regime in Moscow.

The files of the newspapers will show that President Eisenhower again and again balked at personal diplomacy and the summit idea.

He repeatedly said he saw no possible good accruing from this unless agreements on fundamental issues were reached in advance through normal, diplomatic channels.

Many of the spokesmen for the Democratic party thought otherwise. Again and again, Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas, the Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, by their public statements, kept prodding Mr. Eisenhower.

Sen. Fulbright on Jan. 30, 1959, criticized the administration for appearing unwilling to negotiate the issues dividing east and west.

He declared that the United States should also be willing "to explore the possibilities of arriving at some understanding" with Red China that might lead to its recognition.

He indicated his belief that the administration too often took a rigid position against negotiating.

The Arkansas senator became so enthusiastic about summit conferences that in March 1959 he declared they should be held at least twice a year.

Again, on June 7, 1959, he said: "I can't see any great reason to fear a summit, and talk things over. If nothing comes of it, what harm is done?"

THE SOVIET government has been taking Mr. Fulbright's comments seriously and quoting them with approval.

In fact, divided government in America—with one party controlling Congress and another controlling the White House—makes it difficult for the United States to speak with one voice.

The Communist game, of course, has been to use summit conferences as a form of blackmail. When the meeting of the four foreign ministers at Geneva had ended in failure, this correspondent wrote in June 1959:

"Nikita Khrushchev has presented another of his exasperating contradictions.

"In one breath, he says in a published interview that the Soviet Union would not agree to a 'perpetuation of the occupation regime in West Berlin' and, in another, he says urgent international questions can be settled only in a conference of the heads of government at a summit meeting.

"This is merely a way of announcing that, if President Eisenhower is willing to surrender at a summit meeting, all will be well in the world. The Soviet leader's idea of removing tension is simply to have his way in Europe.

"Khrushchev's strategy is, therefore, out in the open at last. He apparently never wanted the four-power conference at Geneva to succeed.

"He has put obstacle after obstacle into the path of the Western foreign ministers, yet at any moment he could have instructed Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to work out a compromise with the West on almost any issue.

"Will the West now give in and grant Khrushchev the summit conference he wants, thus bowing dramatically to his dictatorial power and building up his prestige behind the Iron Curtain?"

So long as there was a chance for Khrushchev to have his way, he promoted summit conferences and held in leash his agents and stooges who had infiltrated various institutions in the free world.

When the Soviet premier became convinced that the West would not give in on Berlin, he decided to change his tactics.

AFTER THE SUMMIT fiasco in Paris last month, word evidently went out to the Communist agents in the Far East and in Cuba and Latin America to stir up as much trouble as possible for the United States.

This stemmed from a belief that, if the Soviets could discredit Mr. Eisenhower and his party, the American people would elect a Democratic president from whom it presumably would be easier for Moscow to get the concessions it wants.

Indeed, the Communists must have derived this idea from reacting closely the speeches and comments by leading Democrats who have intimated that a change in administration would mean a change in policy toward Russia.

The real cancer, therefore, in international relations today—a disease that is eating away at the vitals of the democracies of the West—is interparty politics.

In England, the left-wing laborites are constantly giving aid and comfort to Moscow by proposals that look toward weakening of military bases in Europe needed to deter a Soviet attack. This viewpoint is not so popular in Britain today.

In a few weeks, when the Far East situation is viewed in perspective, it will be found that the anti-Communist feeling in the West generally will have been strengthened by recent events.

THE DISILLUSIONMENT with Soviet tactics will at last bring about the tougher policy that the Western countries should all along have pursued.

To act in what appears a craven spirit, as happened at Munich in 1938, causes a dictatorship to miscalculate and bring on war.

The Tokyo episode and the Khrushchev tirades and insults will eventually make the West more resolute.

There must be courage and inflexibility in facing a dictatorship—as John Foster Dulles vainly strived to convince the world in the many years he stood up to the Communist threat, only to be derided by Democratic party critics as engaging in "brinkmanship."

What is needed today of course is some stern "brinkmanship" and resoluteness in facing Nikita Khrushchev, just as a similar attitude toward Hitler in 1938 and 1939 might have averted World War II.

Dangerous Adventure

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Why should a wealthy businessman with a pretty wife—and a great joy in living—want to risk his life trying to drive a car more than 400 miles an hour?

"You can't logically explain why you feel something has to be done, and you are the one who must do it—at least I can't," said Donald Campbell.

"This is something you either feel, or you don't feel."

He idolized his father, the late Sir Malcolm Campbell, and watched as his father in his last race against time in 1935 roared across the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah at 301 miles an hour.

"That was the ninth time he broke the land record," recalled Donald. "No other man broke it more than three times."

Donald, now 39, was only 14 when he thrilled to his father's feat.

"Little did I think I'd be back 25 years later trying for a record myself," he said.

Donald, no stranger to speed, has broken the water speed record six times and holds the present record of 260.35 miles an hour.

It was five and a half years ago that he decided to bring the land speed record back into the Campbell clan. His target is the 396.196 m.p.h. mark set at Bonneville in 1947 by the late John Cobb.

The elder Campbell died in bed at 63. Cobb, his rival, died in 1952 in a speed boat accident.

Donald's ride to glory or defeat at Bonneville this September will be made in a 30-foot gas-turbine car, called "Bluebird," the same name borne by a long string of Campbell speed cars and boats since 1911.

equipment and spare parts. The car is designed to go 500 m.p.h. but anything over 400 m.p.h. will set a mark.

"The strain on the tires will be about 100 times greater at 475 m.p.h. than at 400 m.p.h.," he said. "But I figure the fun really starts at about 450 m.p.h."

He and his wife, Belgian singer Tonia Bern, are quietly hopeful of victory. As coholder of both the land and water speed crowns, Donald could then look forward to the same honor that capped his father's career—knighthood.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I have a friend who thinks it's all right to carry a gun in the glove compartment of his car.

He frequently parks in a lonely spot with his girl friend and says the gun might come in handy one of these days. He got the idea from reading accounts of how innocent young lovers who were parked along the road were attacked by marauders.

Isn't it against the law to carry a gun in a car? He says if YOU say it is, he'll leave the gun at home. What is your answer?—THE SKEPTIC.

Dear Skeptic: A special permit is needed to carry a gun in an automobile.

Truck drivers or salesmen who carry valuable cargo may have need for a revolver but young lovers should never park beside the road — gun or no gun.

Parkers are sitting ducks for robbers and assorted nuts. Furthermore, the automobile was designed for transportation and it is a shabby and inappropriate setting for romance.

Hot Rod Romance

Dear Ann: I'm having trouble with my boy friend's mother. She's trying to break us up.

Tom and I were supposed to be going steady. I decided to accept a date with another guy to see if Tom really loved me. Tom found out I was out with someone else so he took his father's car (without permission) and went looking for me.

The police picked him up for speeding and also arrested him for driving without a license. (He's under age and can't get a license for another year.) This is the second time he's been picked up for this so now he's in big trouble.

His mother says it's all my fault. She claims if I'd been true to him he wouldn't be in this mess. Tom doesn't want to go steady any more because his mother is making his life miserable. Is this fair? — MIXED UP.

Dear Mixed: It's a sad state of affairs when a boy who isn't old enough to get a driver's license becomes so tied up with a girl that he must go looking for her when she's out with someone else.

Tom's mother should not blame you for the trouble, however. She raised him. You only went with him. Stop this going steady nonsense. Both you and Tom will be better off.

No Double Feature

Dear Ann: Our son is being married to a very nice girl. Her folks cannot afford to put on any kind of a wedding so we have offered to do everything. They are pleased and so are we, since we have three sons and no daughters.

We have a plan for entertainment after the ceremony but my neighbor who knows a lot about etiquette says it's not proper. I'd like your advice. We want to invite the relatives from both sides and also the close friends and neighbors. We will serve them all a buffet lunch after the ceremony which takes place at noon.

Then I would like to ease the friends out of the house and have several card games for just the relatives.

They could play bridge, pinochle or poker. After all, the religious part will be over and we want everyone to have a good time. What do you say? — GROOM'S MOTHER.

Dear Mother: I agree with your neighbor that it would not be proper to ease out the guests and set the place up for cards. If you want to have card games arrange it for another time and don't try to combine it with your son's wedding.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in white Chantilly lace and tulle gown. The mild lace bodice was styled with short sleeves, with sequins trimming the scalloped V-neckline. The bouffant skirt extended in a chapel train.

A crown of pearls and sequins held her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a white Bible topped with carnations and stephanotis.

With her gown of blue silk organza, the maid of honor, Miss Diane Brandt of Baltimore, Md., carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations.

Protect Stored Grain Crops Now is the time to take steps to protect the 1960 grain crop from stored grain insect injury county agriculture agents report.

Most Ohio stored grain insects occur in storage due to contact of the new grain with insect-contaminated old grain or pieces of grain. Before he new grain is stored it is wise to locate and sweep up old grain and grain dust left over from previous years.

In addition to finding this material in the grain bin it may also be found in ruck beds, chicken houses, spilled grain "empty" feed sacks, and stored feed. This material should be collected and burned.

Spray the ceiling, walls and floor of the clean, empty bin to the point of runoff (about one gallon to 500 sq. ft.) Use methoxychlor at the rate of one pound of 50 per cent wettable powder in 2½ gallons of water or malathion at the rate of one pint 57 per cent emulsion concentrate in 3 gallons of water. Do not add grain to the bin until the walls are absolutely dry.

It is wise to store grain at 14 per cent moisture or less and do not store new grain with old. A protectant, mixed with grain protectant, will prevent infestation during the storage season. Use of protectant, however, does not reduce the need for cleaning out old grain.

As a protectant use 1 percent malathion-wheat flour dust, premium grade, at 60 pounds per 1,000 bushel of grain; or one pint premium grade malathion (57 per cent emulsion concentrate) in 2-5 gallons of water per 1,000 bushels; or pyrethrum-synergist wheat protectant for wheat. This material can be metered onto the grain as it is augered into the elevator or spread on the surface of grain just before it is transferred to storage.

It is possible to use a fumigant on stored grain to control infestations once they have started. However, it is a wise precaution to clean out the old grain, spray the clean bin and in many instances, to give thought to the use of a grain protectant. If these steps are properly followed, it is likely that the need for fumigation later in the season will be lessened or unneeded.

Dr. Moore Near Columbus

Writer Can't Keep Up With Woman on Cross-Country Hike

By DAVE HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It isn't difficult to walk across the continent—at least not the 1-3000th that I walked this morning with Dr. Barbara Moore.

The 56-year-old British vegetarian seemed to bubble over with enthusiasm as we strode eastward along U.S. 40 at a rapid 140 steps-per-minute clip. Normal marching cadence in the Army is 120 steps per minute.

Dr. Moore started her walk today at 4 a.m. near the village of Harmony, just east of Springfield. By 5:30 she had covered nearly 14 miles—10 of those miles she said she ran. (The listed American record for a 155-mile run is 1 hour, 21 minutes, 45.3 seconds.) She continually scoffed at the idea of riding.

Ken Trueblood, a St. Louis artist and fellow vegetarian, accompanies Dr. Moore in an automobile. He drives about a mile ahead of the doctor and then waits until she reaches him.

By dark she hopes to be east of Columbus. She was 21 miles west of downtown Columbus by shortly after 6 a.m.

"The weather is perfect," the browned doctor commented on the overcast sky and cool temperature. However, she expressed hope that it would not rain. "I get so dirty when it rains, the trucks go by and splash mud all over me."

Although she has remained on U.S. 40, highway patrolmen commented they lost track of her in the early hours of her walk this morning.

"Those patrolmen are sneaky," Dr. Moore grinned. "They sneak up from behind and keep warning me to stay off the highway." She spends most of her time in the grass medial strip of the divided highway.

Shortly after I began the near-running pace, at her side, David Robinson, 24, of Cincinnati climbed off a bus and joined the group. He said he enjoyed walking and had ridden a bus most of the night just to walk a while with her.

"I know you can't keep up my pace," she said confidently. And after pounding out a mile I had about decided she was right.

"I would like to walk about 6 m.p.h. but since I injured my ankle (when she was struck by a car near Brazil, Ind.) I usually stay about 4½ m.p.h. I like to run in the early morning because I make good time and it is cool," she said in her mixed Russian-British accent.

"I have made so many friends. You know these distance drivers (truck drivers) pass me many times as they go back and forth. Many stop to see how I am."

The injured ankle, although taped, appeared to be giving her little trouble and there was only a very slight limp.

She proudly announced that she would finish her walk to New York. She said in San Francisco in April 17.

After ripping off a mile in a faster time than I used to run one in high school I decided to call it quits and head back to the old faithful automobile.

"How about a ride?" I invited through my car window as I drove back toward Columbus.

"Oh, no I couldn't do that!" she replied with a firm smile.

Braves Beat Dodgers 4-1; A's Defeat Red Sox 9-6

By The Associated Press

Hank Aaron broke loose, Joey Jay finally won one and the Milwaukee Braves are up in second place in the National League race for the first time since the first week of the season.

Aaron, batting a chilly .279 with only one home run in the last 17 games, hammered two homers and drove in three runs while Jay, pitched 6 2-3 innings of four-hit, shutout relief for a 4-1 victory over Los Angeles Monday night.

It was Jay's first success since last September, and his first over the Dodgers in two years. With no other games scheduled in the NL, the Braves pushed within four games of first place Pittsburgh and jumped past San Francisco into second by seven percentage points. The Giants open a four-game series at Milwaukee with a two-night doubleheader tonight.

In the only American League game scheduled, Kansas City defeated Boston, 9-6.

Aaron, last year's bat champ with a .355 average, upped his current mark to .284 and triggered a winning, two-run second inning with a leadoff homer off Don Drysdale. Aaron walked in the third inning, hit his 15th home run of the year leading off the sixth and then drove in another while grounding into a force play against reliever Ed Palmquist in the seventh.

Drysdale (4-9) now has lost five in a row and eight of his last nine decisions.

Jay, whose only other decision was a losing relief job against Pittsburgh two months ago, struck out three and walked one. He came on in the third after starter Bob Buhl, the Dodger killer, gave up four walks.

The seventh place A's beat the last place Red Sox with a tie-breaking, three-run seventh capped by Harry Chitt's home run with a man on. Hank Bauer's double and a single by Norm Siebert cracked the 5-5 tie and handed Tom Borland (0-2) the defeat.

Marty Kutyna (2-2) won it in relief for the A's, who also had a home run from Andy Carey.

Tipsy Tabbies

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Cats can become alcoholics.

They build up much the same craving for booze as men, Dr. Jules H. Masserman, professor of neurology at Northwestern University, recently told the American Psychiatric Association.

He said that mental and emotional processes among higher mammals are essentially the same as those of humans, although on a lower level.

One effect of alcohol and various drugs like morphine, is to wipe out recently acquired tensions for the time being without affecting those acquired earlier and more deeply imbedded. Dr. Masserman said, "It's much the same with cats, he pointed out.

"In one of these studies in which alcohol was used as the nepeathic (memory-erasing) drug, animals which experienced relief from neurotic tensions while partly intoxicated were later given an opportunity to choose between alcoholic and nonalcoholic drinks.

"To our surprise about half the neurotic animals began to develop a quite unfeline preference for alcohol and in most cases the preference was sufficiently insistent to warrant the term 'addiction.' Dipomania thus induced generally lasted until the animal's underlying neurosis was relieved.

"In another series of experiments," he continued, "we observed that hypnotic drugs including alcohol so dulled the perceptive and mnemonic (memory) capacities of animals that they were, while thus inebriated, relatively immune to the neurosis-producing effects of traumatic experiences.

"This results—in humans—in the practise of taking a bracer before heading the boss, getting married, flying a combat mission or facing other presumed dangers."

Tests with alcohol and other similarly acting drugs, Dr. Masserman reported, shows that "in general such drugs disorganized complex behavior patterns while leaving relatively simple ones intact.

In one series of experiments the animal was taught in successive states to open a food box, to respond to food signals including signs reading 'food' and 'no-food.'

pilots back to Eastern cockpits Monday saying "anarchy is not the answer" to the pilots' troubles. A U.S. Appeals Court Judge in New Orleans turned the ALPA down on a request to stay a Miami back-to-work injunction.

The first flights left for Boston, New York, Washington, Newark, Cleveland, Detroit, Indianapolis and Chicago.

ALPA officials in Miami discussed the possibility of a Pan American strike but announced no action. Some overseas flights of Pan Am were canceled in the rising tide of sick reports from pilots who also object to federal inspectors riding in third-pilot seats.

A federal judge in Chicago ordered the fliers back to duty. National and the ALPA have been at odds over pay, working conditions, and retirement benefits. No issue has been made of inspector-seating.

The Senate bill calls for $1,800,000,000 to be spent during a two-year period and to be disbursed on a formula based on each state's needs, with the state deciding whether to spend it for construction or for teachers' salaries or both.

The compromise most often discussed informally would drop the anti-segregation provision and the salary clause and retain the Senate distribution formula.

for game of our time—a game we might well "growthmanship."

It's unfair, Nixon said, to compare the two systems. The Soviets he said, are rebuilding after the war. "Their economy is still primitive," he said, "in comparison with our own."

He took a dim view of those who say the nation is more interested in tail fins than in more solid economic growth.

But when it came to putting down his own program, Nixon contented himself with comments like these:

"The government must pursue a sound fiscal policy, so that values remain stable and upward and not inflation."

And: "Government should avoid as much as possible, interference with the decisions that are made in the private sector of the economy."

Nixon came out strongest in the field of government helping private industry, although here again he dealt only in generalities.

He said this government should continue to help in our public education establishment, in our national transportation system, in slum clearance.

OHIO in the CIVIL WAR

Harrison Hall, Miami University
In the years when States' Rights and Secession were attracting the attention of college students, north and south alike, some spirited debates were staged by the literary societies in the Old Main Building of Miami University at Oxford.

Benjamin Harrison and Benjamin Platt Runkle were prominent in those debates as were Whitelaw Reid, Minor Milliken and numerous students from south of the Ohio River.

When the War came with the attack on Fort Sumter, the Oxford railroad station was a place of sadness as Southern classmates were seen off by their friends, who later met on the battlefields of the Civil War.

Harrison and Runkle entered the Union army and became generals; Harrison went on to the Presidency of the United States.

Whitelaw Reid
Milliken was killed as a colonel at the head of his troops. Miami's Old Main Building was later called Harrison Hall, and a new Harrison Hall is now being built on the site.

Whitelaw Reid, as a representative of the Cincinnati Gazette, became one of the most famous war correspondents. He was present at the battles of Shiloh and Gettysburg, and was with Ohio General William S. Rosecrans in the West Virginia campaign in 1861.

Later, Reid wrote "Ohio in the War," an important reference book for students of the story of Ohio men in the Civil War.

EVEN BETSY ROSS would have been impressed if she could have seen the 329 flags that Mrs. Harlan Sime made in her Readstown, Wis., home. Mrs. Sime's hobby grew out of a request to make flags for a local parade. Her collection of 329 flags—no two alike—flies on Flag Day, the Fourth of July and other patriotic holidays. # Johansson Knocked Out By Patterson In Fifth Round

Champ Is First To Regain Title

Offers 3rd Shot, Ingemar Undecided

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson showed he had a lightning left hook to knock Ingemar Johansson's thunderbolt right and today held the coveted heavyweight championship for a record second time.

The solemn-faced, 25-year-old New Yorker became the first former heavyweight champion ever to regain the title when he knocked out the handsome, hard-hitting Swede with a leaping left hook in 1:51 of the fifth round at the ancient Polo Grounds Monday night.

"I think it was the hardest blow I ever hit anyone," said the elated Patterson. "For the first time I feel I'm a real champion."

"I told Ingemar he positively will get a third shot. I'd like it soon. In 90 days, if possible, I'm going to be a real champion."

"I'm going to think it over," said the downcast Johansson when asked if he wanted the third fight. It was his first defeat in a pro career of 23 fights.

He had soared to the championship heights last June 26 by demolishing Patterson on a seven-knockdown, third-round technical knockout. Now he found it hard to talk.

In regaining the most lucrative prize in sports, the young, broad-shouldered Negro succeeded where eight other ring greats, including Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis, had failed.

At 21, Patterson went into the record books as the youngest heavyweight champion by flattening ancient Archie Moore with a devastating left hook in the fifth round at Chicago, Nov. 30, 1956.

Never again had he demonstrated the power of that jolting hook until Monday night. First he early in the 194th round champion felled the 194th round for a nine-count. Then he did it again with a leaping left that had all of his 190 pounds behind it.

The strong Swede hit the canvas flat on his back. He was out cold. Referee Artie Mercante could have counted 500. It was several minutes before Ingo was propped up on a stool in the ring and several more minutes before he was able to leave the bedlam from his dressing room.

It could have been different if the powerful Viking had been able to follow up his best punch of the night in the second round. He nailed Floyd high on the head with the old "toned and lightning" right. This was almost the same punch that started Floyd on the way out a year ago.

Patterson was stunned but he was able to retreat. Ingo went after his foe cautiously, poking with his left repeatedly. He didn't get in the followup right. By the end of the round Patterson had regained his full senses.

That, it turned out, was Ingo's last chance. It was the only round he got from the officials. Patterson fought differently this time. Instead of looking for a chance to unlimber his fast combinations, he upset Johansson's pattern by using the Swede's own piercing weapon—the classic left jab.

Floyd lanced repeatedly and effectively with the jab. He opened a cut under Ingo's left eye in the first round. He raised a lump under the same eye in the next round. He employed the left to get in close and rake Johansson's body and head with short punches.

In the fifth round he sent Johansson to the ropes. The first leaping left hook thudded against Ingo's jaw and dropped him. The champ got up on one knee and took the count of nine. Patterson tore after him with a vengeance, battering him with both hands. Then came the crushing final left hook and boxing history was made.

For this second fight alone, Patterson's purse may amount to $763,000. Ingo will be consoled by a purse of close to $636,000.

Promoter Bill Fugazy of Feature Sports, Inc., estimated the crowd at 40,000 to 45,000 and the gate receipts at around $800,000.

For the network radio rights, closed circuit television, movies and other extras, several million dollars more may be added.

Hot Stove Leagues

Deming CIO continues to dominate the Class E division of the Hot Stove Leagues. Manager Pete Sanders' outfit is the only club in the league playing better than .500 ball.

Last night Deming CIO romped to its sixth consecutive victory without a setback when it clobbered Bliss CIO 15-2. Deming's now has a three-game lead over its nearest rival, Youngstown Kitchens CIO.

All other Hot Stove League races are tight. Farmers Bank and Fishers News are both unbeaten in six games in Class F. Knights of Columbus is on top in Class G with a 4-1 mark. The Knights are followed closely by Scott's Sports (5-2), Firemen (4-2) and Bricker & Bricker (4-2).

Home Furniture has jumped off to an early lead in Class H with two straight wins. Kresge's and Jaycees are both 1-0.

Class E
Deming CIO pounded out 10 hits and capitalized on six Bliss CIO errors to rack up its easy 15-2 win last night.

First baseman Bob King ripped out three of Deming's 10 hits. Tom Owen and Dick Barrett each added a pair of singles to the attack.

Bliss tagged Deming Pitcher Chuck Rheutan for nine hits, but the young hurler scattered the blows effectively. Randy Reed was the big gun for Bliss. He lashed out a double and triple.

Bill Beery, Bliss CIO's slugging catcher, received a painful ankle injury while sliding into third base and was forced to leave the game in the third inning. He was out on the play trying to stretch a double into a triple.

Deming CIO blew the game wide open with nine runs in the second inning on only two hits. Six walks, a hit batsman and three errors brought on the devastation.

Elks slugged out a 10-5 win over Sekely, and Electric Furnace showed across six runs in the sixth to defeat Salem Stamping 12-7 last night at Memorial Park.

Dave Julian and Rick Hippley each collected two hits for Elks in that club's win over Sekely. The Elks went on top 4-2 in the first inning and were never headed after that.

Tom Hall had a single and double and Chuck Joseph poked out a single and triple for the losers.

A triple by Mike DeRienzo and a double by Bob Rozeski highlighted Electric Furnace's six-run inning in the sixth.

Salem Stamping out hit its foe 12-10, but Electric Furnace Pitcher Chuck Alexander had his strikeout ball working and prematurely quashed several budding Stamping rallies. Alexander fanned nine batters and didn't walk a man.

Larry Fester did the pitching for Stamping, but he had better luck as a batter than as a hurler. Fester had a perfect four for four at the plate, including a pair of doubles. Mike Hickling had three singles and Cody Goard rapped a home run in a losing cause.

The defeat for Hunt's was its sixth straight without a victory. It collected only four hits off John Tolson of Scott's and continued to have its trouble in the field, committing 11 errors.

Randy Martz of Hunt's did smack out the only home run in the game.

Tod Chappell collected three singles in four at bats for Scott's. Ricky Hackett and Jack Brantingham each laced out triples for the winners.

Two K of C hurlers combined for 16 strikeouts to highlight the Knights' win over Petrucci's. Starter Chuck Montgomery whiffed nine men in four innings and Dave Mowery set down seven more on strikes in the three innings he worked.

Joe Maxim had three hits for K of C. Dennis Heim and Don Wolfgang each pounded out triples for Petrucci's.

Stark's collected only two hits but walked around the bases on errors and walks to score 18 runs against Dairy Isle. Dairy Isle got eight hits but Pitcher Kenny Zines of Stark's had better control than his opposing hurlers.

Six Quality for PGA Tournament

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Ed Griffiths of Youngstown and Charles Wiperman of Dover led a field of six who qualified Monday for the national PGA championships at the Firestone Country Club here next month.

Griffiths and Wiperman were co-medalists for three-under-par 139s over the par 71 Portage Country Club course. Other qualifiers were Frank Stranahan of Toledo, who closed with a 66 for 140; Harold Padlock of Chagrin Falls, 67-142; Dick Shoemaker of Cleveland, 71-143; and Frank Harned of Mogadore in a two-hole playoff after both finished the 36-hole test with 144.

The 32-year-old Griffiths, who had rounds of 71 and 68, was completing for a berth in the PGA for the first time. Wiperman, 43, had 70-69, and will be making his fourth appearance in the PGA. He was co-medalist in the qualifier in 1957 and 1958 and won a playoff for a berth last year.

The hard-luck trophy must go to Mike Ondrus of Massillon, who finished with a 148. He had a shot at a qualifying berth until he took an 8 on the final hole.

There are places for 10 players from northeastern Ohio, but four pros were not required to qualify. The four are former champions Denny Shute and Henry Picard, Frank Beley of Canton, who won the northeastern Ohio crown last fall, and Alex Redl, pro at the host club.

Major League Stars
Pitching — Joey Jay, Braves, blanked Dodgers on four singles in 6 2-3 innings of relief for 4-1 victory.
Hitting — Hank Aaron, Braves, hammered two homers and drove in three runs as Braves took over second place with 4-1 decision over Dodgers.

Herron's Rips Deming's 13-4

Italian Club Nips Mile Branch 4-3

Shaffer Ford and Herron Transfer remained in contention for the first round Class AA softball title by posting victories Monday night at Kelley Field.

Class AA opened second round play last night with Italian-American Club breaking on top with a 4-3 win over Mile Branch Grange.

Shaffer Ford won on a forfeit from Orphans who did not have enough players to field a team. Herron's clobbered Deming Co., 13-4.

The Class AA games scheduled last night were first round make-up tilts. The first round takes place on a final make-up game scheduled for Saturday night between Old Dutch and Herron Transfer. A win for Herron's would throw the first round race into a four-way tie between Stepanic's Tavern, Shaffer Ford, Old Dutch and Herron's.

Old Dutch currently leads the six-team loop with a 3-1 record. Herron's is 2-2 while Shaffer Ford and Stepanic's both closed with 3-2 marks. Old Dutch can wrap up the title by beating Herron's in the 7:30 p.m. game Saturday.

HERRON'S POSTED a 4-2 win over Old Dutch in a second round game last Thursday. Although the first round in Class AA has not been completed, all teams have already played at least one second round game. Stepanic's is the second round leader with a 2-0 record.

Herron's smashed out 16 hits last night in its 13-4 slaughter of Deming's. Everybody in the Herron lineup hit safely except Ben Roelen and Roger Stille who shared the right field duties.

Ed Bozich and Dick Youngpeter had three hits apiece for Herron's. One of Youngpeter's blows was a solo homer in the fourth.

Wayne Hahn collected two of the three hits off Herron hurler Ken Schoeni. One of Hahn's hits was a home run with one on in the third inning.

Herron's took a slim 6-4 lead into the seventh inning but put the game on ice that frame when they tattooed loser Bill Ehrhart for six hits and seven runs. Center fielder Jim Barnes climaxed the scoring in the seventh with a booming triple to right.

ITALIAN - AMERICAN CLUB Outfielder Bill Pauline continued his heavy sticking last night to lead his club to a 4-3 win over Mile Branch Grange.

Pitcher Ed Shunk of Mile Branch gave up just five hits, with Pauline smacking out three of them.

Italian Club blew a 3-0 lead in the sixth inning, then won the game with a single marker in the bottom of the seventh. Pauline led off the frame with his third hit of the evening. An infield error allowed Mike Paster to reach base safely before Jerry Cosgrove sent Pauline scampering across the plate with an infield hit.

Mile Branch had tied the score in the sixth when Ehrhart suddenly lost his control for Italian Club. With two out and nobody on base, Cranston touched Ehrhart for a single, which was only the fourth hit in the game for Mile Branch.

Ehrhart then proceeded to walk the next four batters to force in two runs. Cosgrove came in to relieve Ehrhart and forced in another run before retiring the sid.

Cosgrove was the winning pitcher.

What is believed to be a new Ohio record crappie was pulled from Hawkins Lake near Berlin Center Sunday afternoon by Jerry Harmon, a senior at Western Reserve High School.

The fish weighed two pounds, 10 ounces and measured 17 inches. Harmon said he used a night crawler as bait to take the "giant." He will have the fish mounted.

Harmon will submit his catch to the Outdoor Writers of Ohio who keep the big fish records. The present black crappie record is a 15-inch, one-pound 13-ounce fish taken last year in a farm pond near Dayton.

A two-pound, 15 1/2 inch black crappie was reported taken recently in another farm pond in Ross County, but Harmon's catch easily tops that.

Through Ball

By JIMMY DEMARET

Major speed is spent At the point of contact with the ball, the putter has returned to its starting position.

It is at a right angle to the intended path of the putt. The major speed of the stroke is spent as the putter strikes the ball. The stroke through the ball is easy and even.

The majority of bad putts are those made by strokes which are spent or stopped at the point of contact.

The point of contact is the very place the golfer should be sure that the clubface position has been maintained.

Next: The easy finish of the follow through in putting.

FROM THEIR GROUND NESTS termites secretly enter homes to attack wood and other materials. Brick and concrete do not stop these ingenious, destructive insects.

A Terminix Inspection will help you avoid costly termite damage

Termite damage usually starts in the understructure and then spreads to other parts. In homes built on concrete slabs, termites enter through joints or cracks to attack woodwork and carpeting. Why risk this costly damage? To find out for certain whether or not you have termites phone for a skilled property inspection. You will receive a dependable report and information on Terminix Insured Protection that relieves you of all future termite worries.

New Terminix Plan provides up to $5000 protection at low annual cost

Old homes, new homes and ones under construction are being safeguarded against costly termite damage under the new Terminix $5000 Insured Protection Plan. This service is guaranteed by E. L. Bruce Co. and insured by Sun Insurance Office, Ltd. If termites are already in your home, Terminix will stop the attack and protect against future damage. Special low-cost protection plan for homes now free of termites.

Indians Triumph 17-9 Over Reds

Jones Shines As No. 1 Redleg Hitter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Willie Jones, veteran major league infielder, may be a little slow afoot as the Cincinnati Reds say, but his batting is beginning to look important.

Manager Fred Hutchinson apparently had the right idea using Willie as his No. 1 pinch hitter in the club's recent slump.

Willie started the Reds' exhibition against Cleveland Monday night and kept things moving with three hits and a couple of RBIs.

Of course the Indians did a heap better, battering Redleg pitching freely in a 17-9 Cleveland triumph that looked a little like batting practice.

Jones came to the Reds from Cleveland at midseason last year. He lost his third base job to Eddie Kasko this spring, but that didn't keep Willie down.

"I know I can't move as quickly as some third basemen," Jones says, "but I make up for that with my knowledge of how to play hitters."

"I'll keep on playing as long as I figure I can help a club." A dozen Willies couldn't have helped Redleg pitching much Monday night.

Young Claude Osteen, used only in minor relief roles this year, lasted only the first two innings and gave up eight runs.

Don Newcombe, once the king of National League hurlers, worked the next five, yielding 10 runs. Jim Grosnan and Bob Grim split the last two innings, holding Cleveland scoreless.

Harvey Kuenn was the big gun in the Cleveland attack, banging two homers and driving in six markers.

But nearly everybody on the Indian roster got in on the 19-hit attack.

The game, attracting 22,053, raised about $40,000 for Cincinnati area sandlot baseball.

Cincinnati returns to the National League campaign tonight with Los Angeles here, with John Podres facing the Reds' Bob Purkey on the mound.

Judge Rules In Favor of AFL Oilers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The count was 1-0 in favor of the American Football League today in the new league's player war with the old National League.

And All-America halfback Billy Cannon was free to play for the Houston Oilers of the AFL, instead of the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL.

Federal Judge William J. Lindberg Monday denied the Rams' injunction suit to keep Cannon from playing for the Oilers.

The court blasted NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle for conducting the Cannon contract negotiations in a "shroud of secrecy" when Rozelle was the Rams' general manager last November.

The Rams contended Cannon signed three contracts for the 1960-61-62 season.

The judge faulted the 1961-62 contracts mainly because neither was signed by then Acting Commissioner Austin Gussel, a requirement he said is stipulated in the NFL constitution. He dismissed the 1960 contract, signed by Gussel, because he said it was part of an incomplete contractual package.

The adverse ruling shocked the Rams' high command.

Said an irked Daniel F. Reeves, Rams' president: "I just happen to know that Pete Rozelle is the most honest man in the world. I have no comment on Cannon."

The 22-year-old Cannon from Louisiana State University stirred up the already broiling AFL-NFL feud when he repudiated the Rams contracts—for a total of $550,000—contracts—for a total of $50,000—and signed a more lucrative pact with K.S. Bud Adams Jr., owner of the Houston Oilers, in late December.

Nixon Speaks on Nation's Issues

Asks That UN Feed Surplus to Hungry

By The Associated Press Vice President Richard M. Nixon moves from agriculture to the general economy today in his series of speeches on national issues.

His first speech, delivered in Minot, N.D., Monday night, was significant both for what he said and what he didn't say.

He called on the free world to turn its food surpluses over to the United Nations to feed the one billion persons who go to bed hungry each night.

But he didn't give his stand on price supports, a controversial subject in the farmlands.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Nixon's only rival for the Republican presidential nomination, said he would campaign nationally for the party's candidates in the fall.

Rockefeller's statement drew an official cheer from GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton. But some Republicans viewed a national tour with misgivings.

They were afraid the governor might stray too far from the crucial New York electorate. They feel Nixon, the likely nominee, would need the state's 45 electoral votes to win the election.

Nixon's farm address Monday night came before a Republican rally of 5,000. He said it wouldn't be proper for him to comment on price supports since the administration bill still is before Congress.

Nixon was in North Dakota to support the candidacy of Gov. John E. Davis, running for the Senate in a special June 28 election. His opponent is Rep. Quentin Burdick.

Although Nixon strongly urged the election of Davis, he disagreed with the governor on one major issue. Nixon said he is in favor of the soil bank program. Davis is against it.

In the Democratic race, Mayor Robert Wagner of New York announced his support of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the presidential nomination.

Wagner is expected to be chairman of New York 114-vote delegation at the national convention in Los Angeles July 11.

In St. Paul, Minn., a brief appraisal of the civil rights records of candidates came from Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas—his Southern background is a big handicap to his chances.

Kennedy—A good voting record on civil rights.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri—an excellent record.

Adlai Stevenson—"It is difficult for colored people to buy a public figure who believes in moderation as the South has demonstrated moderation to be."

E. Palestine Council Okays Flood Project

EAST PALESTINE — A three-point program of flood control was approved by City Council last night.

Presented by Dudley Masters, engineer from Youngstown, the program includes dredging the underpass at the James St. Creek and constructing an earthen dam in the headwaters of the James St. Creek about one mile north of the city.

Cost estimate for the dredging is $2,300. There was no estimate made on cost of the dam.

Along the same lines, Council authorized a smoke test of the city's sewers to halt the emptying of downspouts into sanitary sewers. The work will be done by city employees. The storm water from downspouts has been backing up into area basements, it was noted.

In other action, Council approved extending Daylight Savings Time until the last Sunday in October. The lawmakers plan to meet on July 5 to give final action to the matter.

They also approved a 1961 budget calling for expenditures in the general fund of $73,000. Last year's budget was set at $72,550. Estimated revenues in the fund were set at $59,000.

Red China Launches 'Anti-U.S. Week'

TOKYO (AP)—Red China today launched an "anti-U.S. imperialist propaganda week" keyed to its furious campaign of vituperation against President Eisenhower.

Drumming out its main theme—that Eisenhower's Asian goodwill tour was a flop—the campaign went into high gear at mass rallies across China. Peiping radio said millions of Chinese were screaming denunciations of the American president.

Eisenhower was described as the "chief of U.S. imperialism," the "god of plague" and the "vicious wolf of Western imperialism."

Newspapers, radio stations, posters on sidewalk bulletin boards and public address systems piped into every town and village square blared their message of hate against the United States in general and Eisenhower in particular.

TESTIFY IN TRIAL

CINCINNATI (AP)—City officials, including City Manager C.A. Harrell, are slated to testify today at start of testimony in the trial of Leo Cafferata, former chief of city off-street parking. A jury was seated Monday to hear a charge that Cafferata, while still a city worker, took a $31,250 commission for his part in sale to the city of a building for use as an off-street parking garage.
